April - 2025

TUESDAY

01

- We can't expect anything in life to be easy or entirely enjoyable.
- In a busy life, if you're moving too fast, it's incredibly easy to ask other people's questions, and accept other people's answers. To pause in those moments and say, 'Okay, so this is what I'm being told, but what is my question about this moment I'm inside of and how might I want to navigate it differently?'
- It's the most four-dimensional experience I've ever had – the gratitude and sorrow and exhaustion and love all knotted together and pulsing pulsing pulsing under the din of your days with no clear end in sight.

Courtney Martin

Everything that slows us down and forces patience, everything that sets us back into the slow circles of nature, is a help. Gardening is an instrument of grace. May Sarton

Words do not express thoughts very well. They always become a little different immediately after they are expressed, a little distorted, a little foolish.

Hermann Hesse

I had a piña colada moothie as a way of honoring Marsha's favorite food.

WEDNESDAY

02

Resiliency ... not an emotional response to circumstances of the moment, but a way of being that can meet the range of emotions and experiences, light and dark, that add up to a life. Krista Tippet, Becoming Wise, p. 252

---

... the fundamental tenets of the photographers' code: the ability to look at the familiar everyday scene and see it as if you were viewing it for the very first time, with the freshness and innocence of a new discovery.

Fergus Bourke

THURSDAY

03

Ernie's Inner Voice: What is the most important thing to do right now? Be in the moment, came back the wise reply.

How about when that moment has passed, the Voice continued. There is always a new present, the wise one said.

---

You need the chutzpah to know that you have a voice worth speaking and things worth saying, and you need the humility to know that it's vital to listen because you may not have it right at all or only a very partial grasp on the truth. Parker J. Palmer

- We are the only authority on what is good for us. Once we see this, we feel an enormous peace and freedom.
  - I must act now without knowing the results. Thus, I give my actions their only possible meaning for me.

Hugh Prather

FRIDAY

04

SATURDAY

05

In the rush of daily living, it's easy to forget all the remarkable people, real or fictional, who have been a part of your life. But if you just imagine they are near for a moment, you will realize that anyone who ever touched your heart is always with you, patiently waiting to emanate warmth and support whenever you remember to think of them.

Barbara Sher

I might be in the basement. I'll go upstairs and check.

M. C. Escher

When the road is rocky and you got a heavy load, Wait for the light to shine. Fred Rose <hr/> Sorrow, however, turns out to be not a state but a process. It needs not a map but a history, and if I don't stop writing that history at some quite arbitrary point, there's no reason why I should ever stop. There is something new to be chronicled every day. C.S. Lewis, A Grief Observed <hr/> Life is not a problem to be solved, but a reality to be experienced. Søren Kierkegaard	The reward of one duty is the power to fulfill another. George Eliot <hr/> If you think of this world as a place intended simply for our happiness, you find it quite intolerable: think of it as a place of training and correction and it's not so bad. C.S. Lewis <hr/> This is the key to time management - to see the value of every moment. Menachem Mendel Schneerson	We are learning, if fitfully and always imperfectly, to nurture inner wisdom that shapes outer life and accordingly enlivens the part of the world that we can see and touch. Krista Tippett, Becoming Wise, p. 195 <hr/> Rivers know this: there is no hurry. We shall get there some day. A. A. Milne <hr/> I became aware of this author as mentioned in Becoming Wise: If the present is really all we have, then the present lasts forever. Anne Lamott	The Circle Again Do not stand at my grave and weep, I am not there, I do not sleep. I am a thousand winds that blow, I am the diamond glints on snow, I am the sunlight on ripened grain, I am the gentle autumn rain. When you awaken in the morning's hush, I am the swift uplifting rush of quiet birds in circled flight, I am the soft stars that shene at night. Do not stand at my grave and cry, I am not there, I did not die. Surfaced atop a pile of papers that Marsha had collected and is attributed to Clare Harner (1934)

April - 2025

SUNDAY

As I go back and revise and update previous journal entries for clarity, format, spelling etc., I am reminded of this quote I happened upon this morning:

If a teacher told me to revise, I thought that meant my writing was a broken-down car that needed to go to the repair shop. I felt insulted. I didn't realize the teacher was saying, 'Make it shine. It's worth it.' Now I see revision as a beautiful word of hope. It's a new vision of something. It means you don't have to be perfect the first time. What a relief!

I was intrigued to look up quotes by Dietrich Bonhoeffer after hearing him referenced in Krista Tippett's book, On Becoming Wise. These are four quotes that connect with my current experiences:

- Gratitude changes the pangs of memory into a tranquil joy.
- It is very easy to overestimate the importance of our own achievements in comparison with what we owe others.
- The biggest mistake you can make in your life is to be always afraid of making a mistake.
- There is meaning in every journey that is unknown to the traveler.

Mindfulness is the aware, balanced acceptance of the present experience. It isn't more complicated than that. It is opening to or receiving the present moment, pleasant or unpleasant, just as it is without either clinging to it or rejecting it. Sylvia Boorstein

24

Once again, Krista Tippett (On Becoming Wise) brings a person to my attention with wise perspectives, especially at this point in my life:

- Hope is not a matter of waiting for things outside of us to get better. It is about getting better inside about what is going on outside.
- The secret of life is to let every segment of it produce its own yield at its own pace. Every period has something new to teach us. The harvest of youth is achievement; the harvest of middle-age is perspective; the harvest of age is wisdom; the harvest of life is serenity.
- Goodness is a process of becoming, not of being. What we do over and over again is what we become in the end.

Joan D. Chittister (Benedictine nun)

Quotes by Jay Leno on his role as caregiver for his wife, Mavis:

Well, that's the challenge, isn't it? When you have to feed someone and change them and carry them to the bathroom and do all that kind of stuff every day. It's a challenge. And it's not that I enjoy doing it . . . but I guess I enjoy doing it.

All jokes aside, I always tell guys when they meet a woman, 'Marry your conscience. Marry someone who's that person you wish you could be and it works out okay.'

SUNDAY

27

- This game is obviously about failure. You're going to fail most of the time. It's how you handle it.
- I don't want to try and be something I'm not. Mookie Betts

Some people come in our life as blessings. Some come in your life as lessons.

Mother Teresa

Marsha was both a blessing and provided me with many lessons.

Eventually all things fall into place. Until then, laugh at the confusion, live for the moments, and know EVERYTHING HAPPENS FOR A REASON.

Albert Schweitzer

MONDAY

28

And the person you're with, In this moment you share, Give them all of your focus; Be totally there.

Pat A. Fleming

Interestingly, during a recent discussion of an on-line support gathering of caregivers, there was agreement that this advice is not valued by individuals whose loved one is experiencing dementia or who has recently passed.

TUESDAY

29

Someone showed me a picture and I just laughed - Dignity never been photographed.

Bob Dylan

The job is to ask questions - it always was - and to ask them as inexorably as I can. And to face the absence of precise answers with a certain humility. Arthur Miller

30

My yesterdays walk with me. They keep step, they are gray faces that peer over my shoulder. William Golding

Marsha loved the abundance of wildflowers that blossomed in our back yard such as the photo I took today. It coincides nicely with the thought of the day from Thích Nhất Hạnh.

My joy is like Spring so warm It makes flowers bloom All over the Earth.

And I want to thank you For giving me the best day of my life. Oh, just to be with you Is having the best day of my life. Dido

I know that I am intelligent, because I know that I know nothing. Socrates

The biggest break in my career was getting into the Beatles in 1962. The second biggest break since then is getting out of them. George Harrison

There's a place in my heart, I got room to spare There's a place in my heart, I'll make room for you there ... No matter what you do I want you to know that You have a place in my heart.

Lucinda Williams - Place in My Heart

For every expert, there is an equal and opposite expert.

Sir Arthur C. Clarke

Follow me, the wise man said, but he walked behind.

Leonard Cohen
